#niedchat does anyone think that there is now no place for rote-learning anymore? In any classroom?

16-Jan-13 20:44 | cillian_walsh

Jayne, I'd recommend any activities that use kinaesthetic abilities, i.e. doing (as opposed to listening/reading). #niedchat

16-Jan-13 20:44 | senseilp

#niedchat transfer test prep we officially don't do it !use mnemonics rhymes pictorial clues & dances !anything which helps them remember

16-Jan-13 20:45 | cath176

@LITTLELADYJAYNE I think it is very much down to the individual teacher and classroom assistant. #niedchat

16-Jan-13 20:46 | dmchugh675

#niedchat If you cater for a variety of learning styles e.g visual, auditory, kinesthetic it should help reinforce the subject for most?

16-Jan-13 20:46 | ffarry1

@cillian_walsh Yes....when everything else has failed and it's a week to go til the exam! #niedchat

16-Jan-13 20:47 | dmchugh675

16-Jan-13 20:48 | cillian_walsh

And, are educators aware of their own inherent teaching style tendencies... which may skew how many pupils remember stuff? #niedchat

16-Jan-13 20:49 | senseilp

16-Jan-13 20:52 | dmchugh675

@dmchugh675 #niedchat at times it can also give them a real sense of their learning power too.

16-Jan-13 21:21 | keenan_robbie

16-Jan-13 21:22 | keenan_robbie

#niedchat our aim is to give these children strategies to aid learning across the curr so that when they go to big sch less stressful

16-Jan-13 21:22 | LITTLELADYJAYNE

@dmchugh675 If same strat used by all teachers stress for child should be reduced. Lack of knowledge is where we are failing them #niedchat
